THREATS MADE IN PRESENCE OF THE COURT

Becker's Attorney Warned Not to Reflect on Rose's Wife.

ALSO RECEIVES HOT LETTERS

Possibility That the Accused Police
Lieutenant Will Put in No Defense, Letting the Case Go to the Jury on the Evidence Introduced by the Prosecution—Jack Rose's Remarkable Testimony.

New York, Oct. 14.—John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for Lieutenant Charles Becker, said that there was a possibility that Becker would put in no defense, but would let the case go to the jury on the evidence introduced by the prosecution. Mr. McIntyre's statement was made in reply to a question regarding a report that the accused lieutenant would take the stand in his own defense and that Mrs. Becker also would be a witness for her husband.

"We may contend," Mr. McIntyre said, "that there is not enough evidence to warrant a conviction and we may go to the jury on the people's case."

Mr. McIntyre, in a statement, said he had been threatened in the courtroom after the conclusion of the session and that he had sought protection for the trip to his office. The courtroom was cleared except for about six men, including himself. With his papers under his arm he stepped out from the inclosure into the main court and confronted a big, heavy-set man, who put his face close to the lawyer's and said: "You —, if you reflect on the wife of Jack Rose, I'll blow the top of your head off."

Mr. McIntyre said he was very tired and that his nerves were pretty well unstrung. He admitted that he was frightened, but he said he put forward as strong a bluff as he could, answered the man in the vocabulary the other had used, and stood his ground. He then called to a friend in the room and asked him if he had heard the threat. The friend said he had, and would "stand by" him. The maker of the threat thereupon slunk out of the courtroom.

Since he got the stay for the taking of testimony at Hot Springs, Mr. McIntyre says he has received somewhere around 20 threatening letters. Almost without exception they threaten him with death if Lieutenant Becker is acquitted. Mr. McIntyre has notified the postoffice department of the letters and also has called them to the attention of the police department.

Jack Rose's Remarkable Tale.
Jack Rose, self-confessed tool of Lieutenant Becker, told a remarkable story of Becker's keen interest in the death of Rosenthal. "I asked Lieutenant Becker why it had taken him so long to get down town after I had reported to him that Rosenthal had been killed," said Rose. "His answer was that he had gone by the police station. I then asked if he had viewed the body of Rosenthal. Becker said: 'It was the most pleasing sight I have ever seen—the sight of that squealing —. If it was not for the presence of District Attorney Whitman there I would have reached down and cut out his tongue and hung it up as a warning to all squealers.'"

One of the sensational disclosures made was the fact that "Big Jack" Zelig, who was murdered 10 days ago, would have been an important witness at the trial had he lived.

Rose swore that Becker sent Zelig money while the gang leader was in the Tombs in order to command the services of the gunmen who were subsequently retained to assassinate Herman Rosenthal. Rose told of hiring the gray murder car and gave the names of its occupants. "I want Rosenthal croaked," he quoted Becker as saying.

Farmhand Found Dead.
Portsmouth, O., Oct. 14.—The dead body of William Tidd, 60, a farmhand, was found on the banks of the Scioto river. It is thought Tidd fell from an N. & W. railroad bridge while on his way home.

TWO FLEEING CONVICTS CAUGHT

Murderer and Burglar Discovered
Near Piqua on a Freight.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—William Barnegaff and George Washington, the latter colored, two of the four prisoners who escaped from the penitentiary Saturday, were captured at Piqua. They were aboard a freight train, the crew of which recognized them from published descriptions. They telephoned ahead of the train's arrival at Piqua and the men were arrested.

Barnegaff is serving a life sentence on a murder charge, following conviction in Butler county. Washington is a Jackson county burglar, serving 25 years. The men effected their escape by means of the penitentiary sewer, which they followed until they reached a city sewer.

Clyde Stratton, Williams county, burglar, and James Neal, Lucas county, burglar, are still at large.

Aged Woman Instantly Killed and Two Others Fatally Hurt.

Lancaster, O., Oct. 14.—Mrs. Margaret Clouse, 77, was instantly killed and her daughter, Josephine Clouse, 44, and Henry Green, 38, were probably fatally injured when an automobile in which they were returning from Columbus to their homes in Somerset was struck by a car on the Scioto Valley traction railway at Carroll, a village near here. The bodies of Miss Clouse and Green were hurled 150 feet. Both are suffering from fractured skulls.

A sharp turn in the road near the crossing prevented the driver of the automobile from seeing the approaching car.

Oberlin, O., Oct. 14.—August Straus, clothing merchant and vice president of the Oberlin bank, was held up by two highwaymen, who beat him severely about the head, took his diamond ring and $300 in cash.

THIS section of a panoramic view of the famous Polo grounds, New York, was taken during the opening game of the world's series between the Giants and the Red Sox. It shows the whole diamond with the game in progress and a part of the huge concrete grand stand jammed with fans. After the old grand stand at the Polo grounds burned down a few years ago work was begun on making the field over. Brush's stadium, as the grounds are called by many, is now one of the best. If not the best, baseball fields in the country. It cost about $500,000 to reconstruct and will seat over 35,000 persons. The official attendance at this game was 35,730. The receipts were $75,127. An interesting feature of this picture is the Jewel residence up on the bluff at the right. It will be remembered that General Washington made this homestead his headquarters during the Washington heights campaign. In the midst of modern sport one has but to lift his eyes to this old landmark to be taken back over a century to Revolutionary times.

Marquard Giants' Hope For the Last Game Today

Will Attempt to Check the Victorious Red Sox Today.

New York, Oct. 14.—Rube Marquard will pitch for the Giants against the Red Sox at the Polo grounds this afternoon, and Manager McGraw believes that the New Yorks will topple over the beaners, even though Smokeball Wood occupies the box for them.

President McAleer and Manager Stahl have not decided whether to take chances with Wood or allow him to rest until Tuesday, if necessary. Wood had two grilling tests on Tuesday and Friday, but he said today that he didn't feel a bit tired. As Marquard narrowly escaped defeat on Thursday when Devore robbed Cady of a probable home run with two men on bases in the ninth inning, Stahl may decide to come back with Buck O'Brien, who opposed the Rube for eight innings on that occasion.

In the Boston camp unbounded confidence prevails, but there is common sense and shrewd judgment shown, too. The Red Sox regard Marquard as extremely dangerous. They are not absolutely sure of beating him, and for that reason it is said that they believe it would be foolish to use Wood up in trying to beat the Giants' southpaw. The Red Sox want to settle the series as quickly as possible. So do the Giants.

If today's game winds up the series each club will have received about $111,000, of which about $27,000 goes into each league's treasury.

Convicts Riot In State Pen Of Wyoming

Fight Desperate Battle With the Guards Within the Walls.

RAWLINS, WYOMING, THE SCENE

Score or More of Prisoners Make Successful Dash For Liberty and Engage Citizens in Running Fight,
In Which Two Are Killed and Several Wounded — Residents Panic-stricken and Demand Troops.

Rawlins, Wyo., Oct. 14.—Ten prisoners escaped from the penitentiary here, following a desperate battle with guards within the walls of the prison.

The men overpowered the guards and made a successful dash for liberty. In a running battle with citizens and prison officials one resident of Rawlins was killed, several wounded and one convict was also killed.

The people of Rawlins are terror-stricken and begging that the militia be sent them for protection. As the governor is out of the city on a campaign tour, the state troops can not be ordered out until he returns.

Citizens of Rawlins have not yet recovered from the fear and excitement following the bold escape Saturday of 30 convicts in practically the same manner, who were led by "Butch" Dalton, who was serving a life term for murder. Twelve of this number have been returned to the prison, but the others, including Dalton, are still at large.

Shouts and occasional shots told of desperate fighting within the walls, and it was rumored that several guards and convicts were killed.

Another battle was in progress at the same time in the hills south of Rawlins, between a posse of citizens and from 20 to 40 escaped prisoners. The convicts made a dash for the rocky hills south of the town. A party of penitentiary guards followed in close pursuit, and before the bewildered citizens had time to form a posse pursuers and fugitives had disappeared among the hills.

In a short time posses had been formed and one of the most desperate man hunts in the history of the west was on. The convicts scattered into small groups, all striving to escape in the almost impassable stretch of rock country between here and the Colorado line.

Peacemaker Killed.

Jackson, O., Oct. 14.—Harry Reed was shot and killed by Oscar Smith as the result of a dispute which arose when two men expressed a desire to reside at the faucet of a beer keg which had been tapped near this city. Reed had acted as peacemaker. Smith, it is said, went to Jackson, purchased a revolver, returned to the place where the party was being held and fired the fatal shot while Reed was in the act of apologizing. Smith escaped and is still at large.

TURKEY WILL REFUSE TERMS

Italy's Demands, If Accepted,
Would Demoralize Army.

TIME LIMIT EXPIRES TUESDAY

Ultimatum of the Balkan Allies Handed to Representatives of the Porte at Sofia, Belgrade and Athens—Montenegrins Splendid Warriors, but Their Equipment Is Reported Appallingly Inadequate.

Paris, Oct. 14.—The time limit within which Turkey must accept the peace terms offered by Italy will expire on Tuesday. It is believed in official circles that Turkey will refuse to accede to the terms, as their acceptance on the eve of a Balkan war would demoralize the army.

The ultimatum of the allies to Turkey was handed to the representatives of the porte at Sofia, Belgrade and Athens. Turkey is allowed until Oct. 15 to reply. This unusual procedure was made necessary owing to the fact that the Turkish censorship prohibits the sending of code messages over the telegraph lines, and this made it impossible to instruct the representatives of the allies at Constantinople to present the ultimatum there.

A correspondent who has been with the Montenegrin army on the frontier for the last few days telegraphs as follows from Cattaro:

"The fighting spirit of the Montenegrins is admirable, but the tragedy of their inadequate war equipment is appalling. Podgoritz is on the verge of starvation. There is only enough maize to feed the army until the end of October."

"Nearly a thousand men have already been killed and wounded. The fighting takes place on a vast mountain slope and anybody who is hit falls among the rocks. There is no proper ambulance service to find the wounded and no time to attend to the dead. Many wounded die because they have not been found and attended to. There are hundreds of wounded in the Podgoritz hospital."

"Every man between the ages of 18 and 65 is on the firing line, and the women convey the ammunition and food to the front in bullock wagons."

Dream of Christians.

There is a romantic touch to the Balkan situation, for the Christians all dream of the day when Constantinople, the capital, which bears the name of the first Christian emperor, and which was once the capital of a Christian world empire, shall be wrested from the Turk and shall again be a Christian city.

Bulgaria, which, like the other contending states, was once subject to Turkey, became wholly independent in 1908. Out of 4,000,000 population, all but 500,000 are Christians.

A somewhat analogous condition exists in Greece, which has 2,500,000 population almost wholly Christian. King George is a member of the Lutheran church, but his successor must belong to the Greek orthodox faith. Little Montenegro has been free from Turkish rule longer than either Bulgaria or Greece, and of its quarter-million inhabitants more than 200,000 are orthodox Greeks, while 10,000 are Roman Catholics and 14,000 Moslems. Servia, which separated from Turkey in 1878, has 2,500,000 inhabitants, practically all of whom are of the Greek orthodox faith, governed by a synod of bishops.

Bryan's Dates Changed.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—William J. Bryan can spend only two days instead of three in the campaign of Ohio, according to announcement made by Democratic State Chairman W. L. Finley. He will be in the state next Saturday and the following Monday. By the new plans Bryan will be in the Forest City a day ahead of Colonel Roosevelt, necessitating the abandonment of any debate plans that were in formation.

THE JUDGES.

Right now it is the courts or more especially the judges—the salary paid and the work performed in the public service—attracting much attention.

The courts and the judges have been much in the public mind of late years and that branch of the government so long regarded as secure from attack and above suspicion by the public has been the subject of much unfavorable comment.

The announced purpose to take the judiciary out of politics and the work so far done in pursuance of that purpose, has certainly succeeded in dragging the judiciary into politics just about as far as it is possible to do.

The great masses of the American people have, until late years, mentally at least, set the judiciary to one side and said to the politicians and the sensational much rakers, "Thou shalt not".

Here at least the tolerance of the American people drew the line. The judiciary must remain sacred. That was the decree so long enforced rigidly that the masses of the American people began to look upon their judges and their courts as infallible—they forgot that a judge was only a man and subject to the same influences, vulnerable to the same temptations and altogether as human as other men, and that the mere elevation of an individual to the judiciary did not change the character of the individual—he was the same human—just a man.

Once in a while a judge "went wrong" in his decision—not wrong mentally, but wrong morally. Unwholesome influences began to be effective in isolated instances and the idol began to crumble. People realized the truth.

Then the crusade to revolutionize conditions began and it has raged in spasms ever since until now the attempt to purify the judiciary while it may ultimately be productive of much good, has resulted in apparent harm.

The most radical changes are suggested as the proper remedy and some of the cures suggested are known to be far worse than the disease.

In fact it is now a serious question among honest progressive Americans whether the trouble is as bad as it is pictured. Nearly every one hopes, and most people believe that the trouble is with individuals and not with the system—that the vulnerable judges, the corrupt judges are the exception and not the rule and that in proposing to deal with all on the presumption that all are as the few, conditions will be made worse instead of better.

It takes a jar to pry the people loose from their prejudices, but the hand which has finally torn aside the sacred curtain behind which the judiciary of the nation was so long secure is a ruthless one. In pointing the way around the present, let it be hoped few, menaces to the peoples' rights and liberties which lurk in the judiciary, the hand is a coarse one and the way indicated one of doubtful safety.

Reforms in the judicial may be advisable, may be even necessary, but that the salary of our judges should be reduced to that of day laborers, that they should be paid according to the amount of work done and the time spent in doing that work does not yet meet with popular approval by any means.

Neither does the proposal to constitute the voters of the land a court of last resort, appeal with force to the level-headed patriotic American people.

It may be true, as claimed, that there are too many judges, and that the salaries paid are out of all proportion to the amount, or the value of the service rendered. It is possible that, in order to awaken the people to a realization of those facts, it is necessary to go to extremes and urge that all judges be put on a ring in, and a ring out basis, but the number of people who believe it is small and the majority of those are either interested politically or pecuniarily in so believing.

Ought Women Who Are Wives to Be In Business?

By Mrs. ISABELLA H. HASSALL,
Vice President of the Boston Woman's Board of Trade

I DO THINK THAT A BUSINESS CAREER TENDS TO UNFIT A WOMAN FOR COOKING AND KEEPING HOUSE, BUT I ALSO THINK THAT THE OFTENER THIS HAPPENS THE BETTER.

It is not necessary that the ideal wife should be a housekeeper. There is a too general confusion between the duties and obligations of marriage and the demands of household management. A woman may love a man enough to marry him, to make him her closest companion for life, WITHOUT CARING TO BECOME HIS COOK. And I do not see that this reservation unfits her for wifehood.

In the unsystematized condition of home work at present the lowest position in an office offers higher development than the so called domestic duties. The trouble with housework is that women have no standards and no competition.

A wife may be an excellent cook or a second rate one or a hopeless incompetent. SHE IS WHAT SHE IS, and there exists no incentive to make her better. Her work is not judged by an ideal or by the work of another. Therefore household labor has fallen to a very low plane, and NO MARRIED WOMAN SHOULD BE THRUST BACK TO IT if she has made a success at something else.

THE BRAVE MEN.

Here's to the men who laugh
In the face of grim despair,
Who gather the tares and chaff
But sow with a cheerful air.
Here's to the smiling men
Who, giving, can take a blow,
And rise to the fight again
When others have laid them low.

Here's to the men who grin
When plans that they build go wrong,
And straightway new plans begin
With courage and purpose strong.
Here's to the glad, brave men
Who, battling, expect a bruise,
And rise to the fight again
Undaunted by fights they lose.

Here's to the men who smile
With faith in the morning light,
And bravely await the while
Till victory crowns their fight.
Here's to the fighting men
That always need not succeed,
To rise to the fight again—
The brave in defeat we need.

Mammoth Boiler To Be Installed

Next week will probably witness the installation of the huge boiler that will furnish heat to the new high school building and also the present Central building. The big boiler has been on the ground for some little time, and everything is now almost ready to have the boiler transferred to its last resting place.

Work on the new school house is apparently progressing very slowly, owing to the great size of the structure, although headway is really being made very rapidly. The auditorium walls are going up very slowly, and much time has been given to preparations for the roof, and to interior finishing of the main structure.

A new fire escape, installed at the old High school building, greatly lessens the fire dangers.

Mrs. Peter Holan, 11501 Buckeye Rd., Cleveland, O., says: "Yes, indeed I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. My little boy had a bad case of whooping cough, some times he was blue in the face. I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and it had a remarkable effect and cured him in a short time." Ensign Crowns and Sailors Save Eleven Others From the Water.

New York, Oct. 14.—President and Mrs. Taft and their guests arrived here at noon on the Mayflower from Beverly, Mass. Today and Tuesday they will participate in the review of the big American fleet now in the Hudson.

Ensign Andes Halley Butler, U. S. N., was drowned in the Hudson river while returning with three fellow-officers to his post on the battleship Rhode Island.

In another accident on the river six sailors from the battleship Maine rescued 11 persons from drowning. It is estimated that 200,000 sightseers, many attracted from remote sections of the country, boarded the larger ships of the fleet, and that more than 1,500,000 persons viewed the fleet from shore.

Secretary C. H. Graves To Hear Case Again Today

Protest Against Douglas' Name on Bull Moose Ticket.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Secretary of State Charles H. Graves today is hearing the protests against the placing of the name of Albert Douglas, Republican candidate for congress in the Eleventh district, on the Bull Moose ticket. Douglas raises a new point, claiming that the protests against the appearance of his name twice on the ballot were not filed in the five-day period provided by law.

It is contended against the Douglas plea that the five-day period for filing protests is merely directory up to within 30 days before the election, the time when all nominations must be filed, and at the end of the period for making nominations it becomes mandatory.

Mrs. T. A. Town, 107 6th St., Waukegan, S. D., writes: "My four children are subject to hard colds and I always use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound with splendid results. Some time ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and the doctor prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it soon overcame the la grippe. I can always depend upon Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and am sure of good results." For all coughs and colds in children and grown persons, and for chronic coughs of elderly people. A WOMAN'S BACKBONE.

History records many instances where a woman has shown that she possessed clear grit—commonly called backbone. She must have, to be able to half-kill herself over a wash-tub every week.

Women are learning now, however, that if they use Easy Task soap in the laundry it means half the work done while they rest, the clothes are cleaner and sweeter, their hands are not red and ugly, their flannels do not shrink and their linens do not rot.

THE JUDGES.

Right now it is the courts or more especially the judges—the salary paid and the work performed in the public service—attracting much attention.

The courts and the judges have been much in the public mind of late years and that branch of the government so long regarded as secure from attack and above suspicion by the public has been the subject of much unfavorable comment.

The announced purpose to take the judiciary out of politics and the work so far done in pursuance of that purpose, has certainly succeeded in dragging the judiciary into politics just about as far as it is possible to do.

The great masses of the American people have, until late years, mentally at least, set the judiciary to one side and said to the politicians and the sensational much rakers, "Thou shalt not".

Here at least the tolerance of the American people drew the line. The judiciary must remain sacred. That was the decree so long enforced rigidly that the masses of the American people began to look upon their judges and their courts as infallible—they forgot that a judge was only a man and subject to the same influences, vulnerable to the same temptations and altogether as human as other men, and that the mere elevation of an individual to the judiciary did not change the character of the individual—he was the same human—just a man.

Once in a while a judge "went wrong" in his decision—not wrong mentally, but wrong morally. Unwholesome influences began to be effective in isolated instances and the idol began to crumble. People realized the truth.

Then the crusade to revolutionize conditions began and it has raged in spasms ever since until now the attempt to purify the judiciary while it may ultimately be productive of much good, has resulted in apparent harm.

The most radical changes are suggested as the proper remedy and some of the cures suggested are known to be far worse than the disease.

In fact it is now a serious question among honest progressive Americans whether the trouble is as bad as it is pictured. Nearly every one hopes, and most people believe that the trouble is with individuals and not with the system—that the vulnerable judges, the corrupt judges are the exception and not the rule and that in proposing to deal with all on the presumption that all are as the few, conditions will be made worse instead of better.

It takes a jar to pry the people loose from their prejudices, but the hand which has finally torn aside the sacred curtain behind which the judiciary of the nation was so long secure is a ruthless one. In pointing the way around the present, let it be hoped few, menaces to the peoples' rights and liberties which lurk in the judiciary, the hand is a coarse one and the way indicated one of doubtful safety.

Reforms in the judicial may be advisable, may be even necessary, but that the salary of our judges should be reduced to that of day laborers, that they should be paid according to the amount of work done and the time spent in doing that work does not yet meet with popular approval by any means.

Secretary Graves' Son Badly Wounded

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 13.—In spirit of wanton deviltry, Scott Graves, 10-year-old son of Secretary of State Charles H. Graves, was shot in the leg by an unidentified boy about 16 years old, who had ordered young Graves and a companion to wade into the Olentangy river from the bank near the Ohio State University grounds. Two shots were fired by two older boys at the Graves boy and Walter Ash, 10-year-old son of Harry G. Ash, 157 West Tenth ave., an employee of the Columbus Buggy company. Young Graves was hit in the left leg, below the knee. The bullet pierced the leg and came out at the ankle. Fortunately it severed no arteries and missed the bone. His 15-year-old brother, Barton, and a friend who were playing in the woods not far away carried him to his home, 115 West Tenth avenue. Each of the boys who did the shooting had a revolver. They ran away as fast as they could and neither of the two little fellows could give a good description of them. News of the shooting, which occurred Wednesday, became prominent yesterday.

HUSBANDS AND HOUSECLEANING.

The reason a man wants to get as far away from home as he can during housecleaning is that everything looks so desperate and it seems as if the work never would be done. If you would use Easy Task soap the work would be over in less time and would be done more thoroughly. Easy Task isn't like the yellow soaps that leave a lot of grease and rosin behind them, it makes everything sweet and clean, and it runs the roaches away. Confidently, it is sure death to the "critters" that like to nest in the bed-steads.

No need to worry about your winter's coal bill if you use the

ESTATE HOT STORM

It burns any grade of soft coal in a highly successful manner, through the use of the Estate Hot Blast and Hot Air Circulating Systems, the greatest improvements ever made in a soft coal stove.

It heats by both radiation and hot air circulation, producing practically double the heat that is secured with ordinary coal stoves from the same amount of fuel.

By putting in coal once a day or two a steady fire from the time it is put up in the fall till taken down in the spring can be kept with but little attention and absolutely without smoke and gas escaping into the room.

You get this decidedly superior service, this demonstrable fuel economy, for the price of an ordinary stove. An examination will convince you.

Banker's Wife, Suddenly Insane, Uses Revolver With Fatal Effect.

Adel, Ga., Oct. 14.—The corpse of M. A. Crosby, cashier of the bank of Adel, and his wife were found in their bedroom by their 6-year-old son. The woman was lying on the floor with a 38-caliber revolver clamped in her fingers and a bullet through her brain. Crosby was in bed with the covers still drawn over him, and had met his death by a shot in the right eye.

At the inquest it was decided that Mrs. Crosby had killed her husband as he slept and then killed herself. Sudden insanity on the part of the woman caused the tragedy, is the only solution that intimate friends can offer. She had been somewhat despondent for some time because of ill health. Crosby was the wealthiest man in this section of Georgia and Mrs. Crosby was a social leader.

Secretary Graves' Son Badly Wounded

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 15.—In spirit of wanton deviltry, Scott Graves, 10-year-old son of Secretary of State Charles H. Graves, was shot in the leg by an unidentified boy about 16 years old, who had ordered young Graves and a companion to wade into the Olentangy river from the bank near the Ohio State University grounds. Two shots were fired by two older boys at the Graves boy and Walter Ash, 10-year-old son of Harry G. Ash, 157 West Tenth ave., an employee of the Columbus Buggy company. Young Graves was hit in the left leg, below the knee. The bullet pierced the leg and came out at the ankle. Fortunately it severed no arteries and missed the bone. His 15-year-old brother, Barton, and a friend who were playing in the woods not far away carried him to his home, 115 West Tenth avenue. Each of the boys who did the shooting had a revolver. They ran away as fast as they could and neither of the two little fellows could give a good description of them. News of the shooting, which occurred Wednesday, became prominent yesterday.

HUSBANDS AND HOUSECLEANING.

The reason a man wants to get as far away from home as he can during housecleaning is that everything looks so desperate and it seems as if the work never would be done. If you would use Easy Task soap the work would be over in less time and would be done more thoroughly. Easy Task isn't like the yellow soaps that leave a lot of grease and rosin behind them, it makes everything sweet and clean, and it runs the roaches away. Confidentially, it is sure death to the "critters" that like to nest in the bedsteads.

YOUR COAL PROBLEM SOLVED

No need to worry about your winter's coal bill if you use the

ESTATE HOT STORM

It burns any grade of soft coal in a highly successful manner, through the use of the Estate Hot Blast and Hot Air Circulating Systems, the greatest improvements ever made in a soft coal stove.

It heats by both radiation and hot air circulation, producing practically double the heat that is secured with ordinary coal stoves from the same amount of fuel.

By putting in coal once a day or two a steady fire from the time it is put up in the fall till taken down in the spring can be kept with but little attention and absolutely without smoke and gas escaping into the room.

You get this decidedly superior service, this demonstrable fuel economy, for the price of an ordinary stove. An examination will convince you.

Mrs. Paul Wehling, 316 Smith St., Peoria, Ill., had kidney and bladder trouble, with terrible backache and pain across the hips. Just imagine her condition. She further says: "I was also very nervous, had headaches and dizzy spells, and was fast getting worse when I took Foley Kidney Pills, and now all my troubles are cured. Foley Kidney Pills have done so much for me I shall always recommend them." Foley Kidney Pills are rich in curative qualities and contain no habit forming drugs. Try them. Kills Her Husband And Herself

Banker's Wife, Suddenly Insane, Uses Revolver With Fatal Effect.

Adel, Ga., Oct. 14.—The corpses of M. A. Crosby, cashier of the bank of Adel, and his wife were found in their bedroom by their 6-year-old son. The woman was lying on the floor with a 38-caliber revolver clamped in her fingers and a bullet through her brain. Crosby was in bed with the covers still drawn over him, and had met his death by a shot in the right eye.

At the inquest it was decided that Mrs. Crosby had killed her husband as he slept and then killed herself. Sudden insanity on the part of the woman caused the tragedy, is the only solution that intimate friends can offer. She had been somewhat despondent for some time because of ill health. Crosby was the wealthiest man in this section of Georgia and Mrs. Crosby was a social leader.

Mr. Jas. V. Churchill, 90 Wall St., Auburn, N. Y., has been bothered with serious kidney and bladder trouble ever since he left the army, and says: "I decided to try Foley Kidney Pills as they had cured so many people and I soon found they were just the thing. My kidneys and bladder are again in a healthy condition. I gladly recommend them." Many an old soldier has never recovered the effects of army life. Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results. The genuine in a yellow package. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists. Advt.

Violated His Parole

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Frank Tierney of Sandusky was returned to the penitentiary for violation of the conditions of his parole. According to his confession he took the chances of having to serve 18 years in the penitentiary in order to get a glass of champagne and a sardine sandwich. With two companions he broke into a saloon at Sandusky, his home, to get the vials.

Claims Self-Defense.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—It is likely that Grover Cleveland Shaver, who killed Louis C. Powell, in the presence of Shaver's sweetheart, Miss Gladys Powell, sister of the dead man, will be charged with manslaughter. His statement to the police, confirmed by that of Miss Powell, indicates that he stabbed Powell, a truck gardener, in self-defense.

DESPERADO WITH GUN RUNS AMUCK SUNDAY AND VICTIM MAY DIE

Mont Phillips Empties Revolver into Body of Mrs. Ben Harof Death.

GUN-USER LOCKED UP AND MAY FACE MURDER CHARGE

Bootleg Whiskey Blamed for One of Bloodiest Tragedies City
Has Ever Witnessed—Five
Balls From 32-Caliber Gun
Take Effect When Colored Woman is Shot Down By Well-known Character.

A very bloody shooting affray occurred on Yeoman street Sunday just before noon, and as a result Josie Hargrave, wife of Ben Hargrave, lies at the point of death with five bullet wounds, and "Bood" Cole, alias Mont Phillips, is locked up in the county jail with a charge of shooting to kill against him, and a probable charge of murder later.

Both parties are colored, and so far little cause for the shooting has been discovered, other than jealousy on the part of the gun-user. Both are about 32 years of age.

The shooting occurred at the residence of the Hargrave woman's father, Burgess Schaffer, and the only one in the room at the time was Ida Whitely, of Dayton, who saw part of the horrible deed and then ran screaming from the premises lest she be the next victim of Phillips.

It seems that Phillips had visited Mrs. Hargrave Saturday night, became angry about something and told her that he would return and kill her. This caused her some alarm and she informed her father, who met Phillips up street sometime before the shooting and told him that he did not want him to call at his house again. This is supposed to have angered Phillips all the more, and he went to the Schaffer residence and entered the kitchen where the two women were at work preparing dinner.

Phillips is said to have started the quarrel anew, and Mrs. Hargrave protested against him annoying her further, he pulled a 32 caliber revolver and started toward the woman, opening fire as he did so. Mrs. Hargrave ran around the table with the man firing at will, each shot being followed by piercing screams which, together with the explosions, aroused the entire neighborhood. The Whiteley woman ran screaming from the house.

After emptying his revolver Phillips remained in the room several minutes and then walked down street reloaded the gun and returned, but believing his victim dying, did not shoot again, although he is said to have threatened others, causing a general stampede. It was nearly a half hour before a physician reached the spot and found that the woman was bleeding from several bullet wounds and in a critical condition.

One ball penetrated the left hand, probably when she held up her hand for protection. One entered the neck and came out the roof of her mouth. Another entered back of the left shoulder and ranged upward, being removed near the collar bone. Two other balls entered below the heart and passed through the body to a point near the right side.

Chief McCoy took up the trail of Phillips and located him at John Patterson's residence. He would not admit the shooting, but had told Rob Johns that he had killed "Josie". He was immediately placed in the county jail to await developments.

Phillips has a bad record and is said to have left Springfield and come to this city because of crimes there. He was known to all as "Bood" Cole, and some eight months ago was under arrest here on a statutory charge, in which the Hargrave woman was mentioned. He was under a $200 suspended sentence for the old crime.

Mrs. Hargrave has a slight chance of recovering notwithstanding the serious nature of her wounds.

Phillips had been drinking previous to the shooting, and was intoxicated when placed under arrest. The gun could not be found.

Man and Woman Get Heavy Fines

James Smith, colored, and Mrs. Virgie Payne were arrested Saturday night on Broadway for fighting and raising confusion in general.

When they appeared before Mayor Smith they entered pleas of guilty and were given $25 and the costs each for the offense. Smith paid the costs and the $25 was suspended providing he would leave the city and stay away. He made faithful promises to leave and was released. Monday morning the police received word that he had not left, and his re-arrest was ordered if he could be found within the city limits.

The Payne woman was given her choice of raising the $25 and costs or going to the Xenia workhouse. She promised to raise the amount and was released. The amount is to be in the hands of Mayor Smith before the day is over.

Father of Mayor Critically Ill

Mr. Abner D. Smith, father of Mayor Harvey W. Smith, is in a very serious condition at his home on the corner of Fayette street and Circle avenue. His death is expected at any moment.

Mr. Smith, who is one of Washington's best known citizens, is 82 years of age and has been ill for the past three months, gradually growing worse until the present critical condition. His illness is due to his advanced age.

BLOODY SCRAP ENDS IN THE POLICE COURT

Two Colored Men Mix It Up in a Deadly Scrimmage, and Both Suffer Horrible Wounds—One
Draws $50 and Costs and the Other Stands Trial.

John Stewart, colored, and George Robinson, also colored, clashed in a bloody scrap in front of the Robinson residence on Delaware street Sunday afternoon over some trivial matter, and for nearly a half hour the men fought like bull dogs in deadly combat.

Fists, teeth, feet, and any object they could lay hand upon seem to have been used with unsparing freedom, so that when the two contestants were separated and placed under arrest it was necessary to have them patched up at a physician's office, and both men were pretty badly used up.

Robinson had a number of bad wounds, some of which consisted of marks alleged to have been inflicted by Stewart's teeth, and his face was badly chewed up, so that he, like Stewart, was covered with blood from head to foot when peace was finally restored.

Stewart had several great gashes cut across his head where a beer bottle found a place to fall with crushing force, and a large and ugly wound on his right arm also added to his state of disrepair. Both presented ghastly sights after the conflict.

The pair were locked up and Monday morning Robinson faced Mayor Smith and drew the limit for disorderly conduct—$50 and the costs, and given his choice of paying the fine or going to the workhouse. He said he would pay, and commenced the work of securing funds. Stewart would not plead guilty but stood trial, and the case comes up soon.

Washington Licked By Chillicothe Boys

Washington High met defeat at Chillicothe Saturday when the pigskin chasers of that place trounced them to the tune of 16 to 6 in a hard fought game.

Hughey kicked off for Washington and within four minutes Williams made a touchdown. Washington had the first quarter. The second quarter was uncertain, but the third and fourth were Chillicothe's.

Washington's losses were due to fumbles, and there really was no reason for them to lose the game. A little more practice will do much to put the home team in condition to defeat Springfield on the local grounds next Saturday afternoon.

Stolen Auto Abandoned Here

Monday morning a five passenger Overland touring car was found on Elm street, just off of Columbus avenue, where it had been abandoned by thieves who had stolen the machine in Columbus Saturday.

The machine was in good condition except a rear tire which had been ruined, and the rim was also ruined. The gasoline tank was empty.

Chief McCoy made an investigation with the result that word was received from Columbus that the machine belonged there. Tag No. 59,026 was on the car, but the machine bearing the number is listed as a Ford, owned by C. W. Law, of Columbus.

Police Warned To Be on Lookout

The police received a telephone message Sunday to be on the lookout for Patrolman Oscar Smith, of Jackson, Ohio, who was wanted for shooting down a man named Harry Reed, during a quarrel in the outskirts of Jackson early Sunday morning.

Smith, who seems to be a patrolman on the Jackson force, and was off duty, was with Reed and a quarrel arose over who was going to open a keg of beer.

The slayer and a man named Davis had some words and Reed took a hand as peacemaker.

The local police watched all trains for the man, but he could not be located.

GUN-USER LOCKED UP AND

Shooting Whiskey Blamed for One of Bloodiest Tragedies City
Has Ever Witnessed—Five
Balls From 32-Caliber Gun
Take Effect When Colored Woman Is Shot Down By Well-known Character.

A very bloody shooting affray occurred on Yeoman street Sunday just before noon, and as a result Josie Hargrave, wife of Ben Hargrave, lies at the point of death with five bullet wounds, and "Bood" Cole, alias Mont Phillips, is locked up in the county jail with a charge of shooting to kill against him, and a probable charge of murder later.

Both parties are colored, and so far little cause for the shooting has been discovered, other than jealousy on the part of the gun-user. Both are about 32 years of age.

The shooting occurred at the residence of the Hargrave woman's father, Burks Schaffer, and the only one in the room at the time was Ida Whitely, of Dayton, who saw part of the horrible deed and then ran screaming from the premises lest she be the next victim of Phillips.

It seems that Phillips had visited Mrs. Hargrave Saturday night, became angry about something and told her that he would return and kill her. This caused her some alarm and she informed her father, who met Phillips up street sometime before the shooting and told him that he did not want him to call at his house again. This is supposed to have angered Phillips all the more, and he went to the Schaffer residence and entered the kitchen where the two women were at work preparing dinner.

Phillips is said to have started the quarrel anew, and Mrs. Hargrave protested against him annoying her further, he pulled a 32 caliber revolver and started toward the woman, opening fire as he did so. Mrs. Hargrave ran around the table with the man firing at will, each shot being followed by piercing screams which, together with the explosions, aroused the entire neighborhood. The Whitely woman ran screaming from the house.

After emptying his revolver Phillips remained in the room several minutes and then walked down street reloaded the gun and returned, but believing his victim dying, did not shoot again, although he is said to have threatened others, causing a general stampede. It was nearly a half hour before a physician reached the spot and found that the woman was bleeding from several bullet wounds and in a critical condition.

One ball penetrated the left hand, probably when she held up her hand for protection. One entered the neck and came out the roof of her mouth. Another entered back of the left shoulder and ranged upward, being removed near the collar bone. Two other balls entered below the heart and passed through the body to a point near the right side.

Chief McCoy took up the trail of Phillips and located him at John Patterson's residence. He would not admit the shooting, but had told Rob Johns that he had killed "Josie". He was immediately placed in the county jail to await developments.

Phillips has a bad record and is said to have left Springfield and come to this city because of crimes there. He was known to all as "Bood" Cole, and some eight months ago was under arrest here on a statutory charge, in which the Hargrave woman was mentioned. He was under a $200 suspended sentence for the old crime.

COURT STREET

IN SOCIETY

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Ireland entertained with a very beautiful six o'clock dinner in honor of Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Locke, who are leaving Washington for their new home in Columbus.

Seated with them were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Parrett, Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Craig, Misses Minnie Light and Edith Gardner.

A pink and white color scheme was effectively carried out in table decorations of pink and white cosmos and fern, and fall roses and salvia adorned the parlors and library.

The evening was one of much pleasure although tinged with the deep regret attendant upon Rev. Locke's call to another charge.

An exceedingly pretty birthday party was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Jerome Taylor for her bright eight year old daughter, Pauline.

The large home and grounds were placed at the service of the twenty young girls invited and the lovely afternoon permitted a merry round of out door games. Georgia Taylor won the prize in a jolly peanut hunt.

As a climax to the afternoon's fun the girls were seated at a long table, beautifully embellished with marigolds and asparagus fern, and served with ice cream, cake and bonbons. A big birthday cake was in the center of the table. The young hostess received a number of gifts.

Assisting Mrs. Taylor in giving the guests a happy afternoon, were Misses Emma Draise and Bertha Harper.

The guests were Ethel and Edna Bellar, Georgia and Nella Taylor, Beatrice Hays, Anna Lee McFadden, Prudence Taylor, Mary, Dorothy, Levon and Ruth Curp, Leona Waters, Naomi Campbell, Katharine Long, Donna Louise and Jessie Curp, Analee Taylor and Master Clarence Taylor.

The girls of the Phi Delta Sigma gave a delightful little affair in honor of Miss Gladys Lock, last Friday evening on account of the expected departure to her new home in Columbus. Miss Locke is deservedly popular with the young girls and genuine indeed were the expressions of regret that she was so soon to leave the happy circle of young folks. Regrets at the parting were expressed and good wishes for the future extended. Delicious refreshments were served and at the conclusion a beautiful gold necklace was presented to Miss Locke by her young friends.

Thursday evening Miss Sylvia Snyder entertained beautifully a number of the younger folks in honor of Miss Gladys Locke.

Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Bush have as their guests, Dr. Bush's mother, Mrs. J. C. Templeton, and Mrs. Elizabeth Dwyer, of Greenfield.

Miss Kathlene Meyer went to Springfield, today to be the guest of Miss Margaret Barrett, and to attend the K. C. dance and banquet.

Mrs. Sarah Eldridge returned today to her home in Brooklyn, N. Y., after a four months' visit with her sister, Mrs. Mary Cleveland.

Mr. Frank Wolfe came down from Columbus Sunday to accompany his wife home after a visit with her mother, Mrs. H. H. Brown.

Miss Louise Ballard was a weekend visitor in Columbus to attend the Denison-O. S. U. football game and a dinner at the Fraternity house.

Mr. T. J. Potts and sister, Mrs. S. A. Wright, of Indianapolis, Ind., arrived Saturday to visit their niece, Mrs. Chalmer Thoroman, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Scott, of Columbia City, Ind., visited at the home of Mrs. Jas. Hartman a couple of days during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lanum, daughter, Miss Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. Seacrest and two children, motored down from Columbus Sunday to be the guests of Dr. Clayton Lanum and Miss Del Lanum.

Miss Martha Ford has returned to her home in Milledgeville after a four weeks' visit to Akron, where she attended the wedding of a college friend, Caladonia, Cleveland, Marion and Urbana.

Mr. and Mrs. William Buser, Mr. and Mrs. Poston and little daughter, Helen, motored over from Chillicothe yesterday and were the guests of Mrs. H. E. Thompson and daughter, Miss Elizabeth.

Mr. S. W. Cissna, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Crawford, Ruth and Nell Cissna, made a motoring trip to Columbus Sunday and brought back Mrs. Cissna from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Parker Tanzey.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Fisher, Mr. Jos. Fisher and family, guests Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Scott, of Columbia City, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Willard Everhart and Robert King made a motoring trip to Copperas mountain Saturday.

Mrs. Fred Schmid and Mrs. Glenn Rodgers were the guests of their sister, Mrs. R. E. Evick in Columbus, Saturday and Sunday, to meet their sister, Mrs. George James, who came down from Cleveland. Mrs. Mack Stuckey, who spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. Evick, accompanied Mrs. James back to Cleveland to remain through the holidays.

Miss Etta Rannels left for Louisville, Ky., Monday, to attend the International Missionary society of the Christian church, Miss Rannels going as a delegate from the local Christian church. Rev. Hostetter goes to Louisville tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Calvert, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Worthington, Misses Mabel and Ethel Calvert, Edith and Jean Worthington, motored to Sabina Saturday night to see "Madame Sherry". The same party with the exception of Mr. Worthington, who was called to Hillsboro, spent Sunday at Maple Grove Springs.

Mrs. Charles Persinger was called to Jackson Saturday evening by the death of her brother, Judge Wilson, a prominent and widely known man of the southern part of the state. Judge Wilson's son, Archer, was visiting Mrs. Persinger at the time of his father's death, and accompanied his aunt to Jackson. Mr. Persinger goes down for the funeral on Wednesday.

Mr. Jess Blackmore and daughters, Frances and Romain, attended the Lancaster fair, returning Sunday.

Mrs. John Meyers and Miss Mary Meyers, of Dayton, spent Sunday the guests of Miss Meyers, in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Wigginton and daughter, Mariellen, were Sunday guests of Mr. Frank Hause and family of Springfield.

Miss Ivie Larrimer was called to Salem to attend the children of her brother, Tom Larrimer, who are suffering with scarlet fever.

Grand Sport Assured At the Fall Race Meet

Stall Room at the Local Track Is Taxed to Capacity By the Large Number of Horses Here
for the Purses.

IDEAL FALL WEATHER PROMISED

An excellent three days of sport is not only promised but seems assured at the Fall fair races next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Local horse lovers have been busy for weeks in the effort to secure a number of fast horses to compete. Liberal inducements were offered in the purses hung up and in addition to that extra efforts were made by the promoters to get in touch with horse owners. The excellent reputation which Washington enjoys with horse men aided materially in the success of the enterprise.

The result of all is a splendid list of entries. A partial entry list is published on page three of this issue of The Herald and from this an idea may be obtained as to the number and class of the horses which will circle the local track in fast time on the three days set apart for the races.

In addition to this partial list, there are a number of entries which have come in since the list was compiled and others are coming in hourly.

High class races between large fields made up of the pick of the harness horses, under ideal weather conditions is assured and Washington and Fayette county people are eager to take advantage of the opportunity. Big crowds each day are sure to see the races.

Local horse owners who have had quarters for their horses at the fair grounds have been requested to move out to make room for the visitors. In every instance they have complied and every stall at the local track is now occupied by a fleet-footed visitor.

Thurman Gilmore, of Jeffersonville, Hires Livery Rig and Takes a Long Joy Ride for Which He Pays $15 When Local Police Nab Him After Trail-ing Him to a Point Near Sabina.

Word was received in this city Sunday from Duff and Vannorsdall, liverymen of Jeffersonville, asking the police to locate one Thurman Gilmore of Jeffersonville, who was accused of having a horse and buggy in his possession that belonged to Duff and Vannorsdall, and which the man had hired Saturday to go to Sabina, and had not showed up.

Gilmore, who has been prominently associated with Christian Union organization at Jeffersonville, had rented the rig, made the trip to Sabina and then came to this city, leaving the outfit at the Crone livery barn, and in making a search for the man, Chief McCoy discovered that the rig had just been taken from the barn and that Gilmore was intoxicated and had started toward Milledgeville.

Securing an automobile Chief McCoy followed the trail to near Sabina where he overtook Gilmore and placed him under arrest. Patrolman Bell was placed in charge of the rig and the return to Washington was commenced.

While on the way back the party met Mr. Vannorsdall, one of the owners of the rig, and a compromise was made, in which Gilmore gave up $10 for his joy ride, and $5 for the joy ride he had caused the local police.

He had two bottles of booze with him when arrested, and had partaken very liberally of both bottles, "sampling" them alternately. When last seen by the police he was afoot on the dusty road a few miles from Milledgeville, with his two bottles of booze. Gilmore claimed that he had no intention of stealing the outfit, and that he intended to buy it, showing a note for $150 which bore the signature of N. A. Smith, a prominent farmer of near Milledgeville.

Hartman Theater

Simplicity, humanity and directness are the three qualities in the new C. Haddon Chambers' play "Passers-By" which make it the big, unqualified success that it was during its long run last season in New York City. Mr. Chambers is said to have told a story, replete in humanity, but not in the least involved and to have told it with a directness that is at times startling. "Passers-By" is a play of types for the east consists of a wealthy young bachelor, his valet, a cabman, a waif, a tramp, a young woman who works for her living in one of the big London stores, a young woman of the upper classes and a middle aged lady with a title attached to her name. Then, too, there is the little son of the bachelor. At Mr. Chambers' especial request, Charles Cherry, who this season begins his stellar career under the management of Chas. Frohman, will enact the principal character, Peter Waverton. The play is generally regarded as being one of the most vital dramatic documents that any English speaking author has contributed to the stage in the past ten years. This attraction will be seen at the Hartman Theater, Friday and Saturday, October 18-19th, with a matinee Saturday.

COURT STREET

IN SOCIETY

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Ireland entertained with a very beautiful six o'clock dinner in honor of Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Locke, who are leaving Washington for their new home in Columbus.

Seated with them were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Parrett, Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Craig, Misses Minnie Light and Edith Gardner.

A pink and white color scheme was effectively carried out in table decorations of pink and white cosmos and fern, and fall roses and salvia adorned the parlors and library.

The evening was one of much pleasure although tinged with the deep regret attendant upon Rev. Locke's call to another charge.

An exceedingly pretty birthday party was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Jerome Taylor for her bright eight year old daughter, Pauline.

The large home and grounds were placed at the service of the twenty young girls invited and the lovely afternoon permitted a merry round of out door games. Georgia Taylor won the prize in a jolly peanut hunt.

As a climax to the afternoon's fun the girls were seated at a long table, beautifully embellished with marigolds and asparagus fern, and served with ice cream, cake and bonbons. A big birthday cake was in the center of the table. The young hostess received a number of gifts.

Assisting Mrs. Taylor in giving the guests a happy afternoon, were Misses Emma Draise and Bertha Harper.

The guests were Ethel and Edna Bellar, Georgia and Nella Taylor, Beatrice Hays, Anna Lee McFadden, Prudence Taylor, Mary, Dorothy, Levon and Ruth Curp, Leona Waters, Naomi Campbell, Katharine Long, Donna Louise and Jessie Curp, Annalee Taylor and Master Clarence Taylor.

The girls of the Phi Delta Sigma gave a delightful little affair in honor of Miss Gladys Lock, last Friday evening on account of the expected departure to her new home in Columbus. Miss Locke is deservedly popular with the young girls and genuine indeed were the expressions of regret that she was so soon to leave the happy circle of young folks. Regrets at the parting were expressed and good wishes for the future extended. Delicious refreshments were served and at the conclusion a beautiful gold necklace was presented to Miss Locke by her young friends.

Thursday evening Miss Sylvia Snyder entertained beautifully a number of the younger folks in honor of Miss Gladys Locke.

Mrs. Charles Persinger was called to Jackson Saturday evening by the death of her brother, Judge Wilson, a prominent and widely known man of the southern part of the state. Judge Wilson's son, Archer, was visiting Mrs. Persinger at the time of his father's death, and accompanied his aunt to Jackson. Mr. Persinger goes down for the funeral on Wednesday.

Mr. Jess Blackmore and daughters, Frances and Romain, attended the Lancaster fair, returning Sunday.

Mrs. John Meyers and Miss Mary Meyers, of Dayton, spent Sunday the guests of Miss Meyers, in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Wigginton and daughter, Mariellen, were Sunday guests of Mr. Frank Hause and family of Springfield.

Miss Ivie Larrimer was called to Salem to attend the children of her brother, Tom Larrimer, who are suffering with scarlet fever.

Grand Sport Assured At the Fall Race Meet

Stall Room at the Local Track Is Taxed to Capacity By the Large Number of Horses Here
for the Purses.

IDEAL FALL WEATHER PROMISED

An excellent three days of sport is not only promised but seems assured at the Fall fair races next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Local horse lovers have been busy for weeks in the effort to secure a number of fast horses to compete. Liberal inducements were offered in the purses hung up and in addition to that extra efforts were made by the promoters to get in touch with horse owners. The excellent reputation which Washington enjoys with horse men aided materially in the success of the enterprise.

The result of all is a splendid list of entries.

A partial entry list is published on page three of this issue of The Herald and from this an idea may be obtained as to the number and class of the horses which will circle the local track in fast time on the three days set apart for the races.

In addition to this partial list, there are a number of entries which have come in since the list was compiled and others are coming in hourly.

High class races between large fields made up of the pick of the harness horses, under ideal weather conditions is assured and Washington and Fayette county people are eager to take advantage of the opportunity. Big crowds each day are sure to see the races.

Local horse owners who have had quarters for their horses at the fair grounds have been requested to move out to make room for the visitors. In every instance they have complied and every stall at the local track is now occupied by a fleet-footed visitor.

NEARLY FACES CHARGE OF STEALING A HORSE

Thurman Gilmore, of Jeffersonville, Hires Livery Rig and Takes a Long Joy Ride for Which He Pays $15 When Local Police Nab Him After Trail-ing Him to a Point Near Sabina.

Word was received in this city Sunday from Duff and Vannorsdall, liverymen of Jeffersonville, asking the police to locate one Thurman Gilmore of Jeffersonville, who was accused of having a horse and buggy in his possession that belonged to Duff and Vannorsdall, and which the man had hired Saturday to go to Sabina, and had not showed up.

Gilmore, who has been prominently associated with Christian Union organization at Jeffersonville, had rented the rig, made the trip to Sabina and then came to this city, leaving the outfit at the Crone livery barn, and in making a search for the man, Chief McCoy discovered that the rig had just been taken from the barn and that Gilmore was intoxicated and had started toward Milledgeville.

Securing an automobile Chief McCoy followed the trail to near Sabina where he overtook Gilmore and placed him under arrest. Patrolman Bell was placed in charge of the rig and the return to Washington was commenced.

d. dRilagHYPShesceMohandI

While on the way back the party met Mr. Vannorsdall, one of the owners of the rig, and a compromise was made, in which Gilmore gave up $10 for his joy ride, and $5 for the joy ride he had caused the local police.

He had two bottles of booze with him when arrested, and had partaken very liberally of both bottles, "sampling" them alternately. When last seen by the police he was afoot on the dusty road a few miles from Milledgeville, with his two bottles of booze. Gilmore claimed that he had no intention of stealing the outfit, and that he intended to buy it, showing a note for $150 which bore the signature of N. A. Smith, a prominent farmer of near Milledgeville.

Hartman Theater

Simplicity, humanity and directness are the three qualities in the new C. Haddon Chambers' play "Passers-By" which make it the big, unqualified success that it was during its long run last season in New York City. Mr. Chambers is said to have told a story, replete in humanity, but not in the least involved and to have told it with a directness that is at times startling. "Passers-By" is a play of types for the east consists of a wealthy young bachelor, his valet, a cabman, a wife, a tramp, a young woman who works for her living in one of the big London stores, a young woman of the upper classes and a middle aged lady with a title attached to her name. Then, too, there is the little son of the bachelor. At Mr. Chambers' especial request Charles Cherry, who this season begins his stellar career under the management of Chas. Frohman, will enact the principal character, Peter Waverton. The play is generally regarded as being one of the most vital dramatic documents that any English speaking author has contributed to the stage in the past ten years. This attraction will be seen at the Hartman Theater, Friday and Saturday, October 18-19th, with a matinee Saturday.

Candidates Will Talk Prosperity

A meeting of Republican workers from the various precincts of the city was held last evening on the eighth floor of the Fairbanks building, for the purpose of going over some of the plans for the remaining weeks of the campaign.

Addresses were delivered by Dr. R. M. Hughey, of Washington C. H., the Republican candidate for congressman in this district; Judge A. H. Kunkle, candidate for circuit judge, and C. B. Shook, of Columbus.

The addresses indicated the plan of the local organization from now on, in the campaign for votes at the coming election. One issue, it appears, will be put before the voters persistently, and that will be the claim that the policies of the Republican party in national affairs have been such that under it, the whole country is enjoying a period of prosperity greater than any before.

There will be no further fight against the Bull Moosers, if last evening's meeting can be taken as an indication of what the Republicans are going to do. They will be handled as kindly as possible, from present appearances, and prosperity will be the one theme of the Republican arguments.

The necessity of the party workers hammering away at this one subject was emphasized by the speakers, all of whom declared their unshaken belief that the voters will rally to the support of the party, when what the Republicans maintain to be the fundamental issue is presented.

The judicial ballot was discussed by Judge Kunkle, who urged all present not to overlook the Republicans upon the ballot, in their work among the voters.—Springfield Sun.

HOW IT WAS NAMED.

Nottingham lace was so called because it originally was made by the semi-savage people who lived in the caves in England. By keeping the work between them and the dark mouth of the cave the women could work the pattern easily. Nottingham, or any other lace, even the finest and finest, can be washed safely and quickly with Easy Task soap, which is a natural, scientific cleanser and leaves the lace in the best condition. Easy Task costs but five cents a cake at your grocer's.

NEW U. S. PALACE IN ROME

Thomas J. O'Brien, Ambassador to Italy, Has at Last Found Suitable Residence.

Rome.—Thomas J. O'Brien, the American ambassador, has at last solved in a most suitable way the question of his residence as the representative of a power like the United States.

In Rome the ambassador of a great country can hardly live, without losing some prestige, in a modern house or villa. The residence which the French ambassador occupies, the Palazzo Farnese, is a national monument in itself. The Austrian ambassador lives in the Palazzo Venezia, a stronghold, so-called, because it belonged to the Republic of Doges.

The ambassador of Spain has the Palazzo di Spagna, which for centuries housed the grandees of that country. The German ambassador is housed in the Palazzo Chigi, which from the heights of the capitol frowns over the Eternal City below. The Japanese ambassador lives in the historic Palazzo Alinari, erected in 1670.

Ambassador O'Brien understood this situation and set to work to find a proper residence, which for a time seemed impossible. He signed a contract to occupy a gorgeous apartment in the Palazzo Barberini, a most imposing structure of the Renaissance, begun in 1624, and finished by the ubiquitous Bernini, whose works confront one at every turn in Rome.

FIRST SCULPTOR IS FOUND

Dr. Capitan, professor at the College de France, has had the good fortune to discover the remains of the first sculptor in the world, buried at the foot of his masterpiece, executed some 30,000 years ago.

Last year the archaeological world was deeply stirred by the unearthing under the pick of Dr. Lalanne of Bordeaux of a prehistoric Venus, carved in the native rock of a grotto near Lauselle. The rocky pocket in which this momentous discovery was made was filled with archaeological deposits, bones of animals, especially reindeer, which were common game for the hardy hunters of the Magdalenian epoch in Dordogne. Many utensils of the hunter, the fisherman and the artist were also found—delicate chisels, scrapers, harpoons and spears of bone.

Most of these, evidently, could only have served for the hunt, the house, the kitchen or warfare; but there were others mingled with them, exceptionally big and heavy—whose use remained unexplained until the dust of ages having been cleaned from the wall of malden unexplained from the wall of the grotto, five life-sized horses, cut in the rock in a free and living workmanship, were revealed. The excavations were continued and soon a spade struck on the skull of the author. The old artist lay crouching on his left side, something in the attitude of Rodin's statue, "The Thinker," which stands outside the Pantheon at Paris.

WONDERFUL ROCK CHIMNEY

What is perhaps the most wonderful rock chimney in the whole of America is shown in the photograph here reproduced. It stands near High Bridge, Ky., itself one of the wonders of the world. This natural chimney is seventy-five feet high and only four feet by six at the base. It is so delicately moulded that it looks as if a push would send it over, yet it has successfully defied the storms of unknown ages.

WRONG BRIDE AT THE ALTAR

The story of a bridegroom finding the wrong bride at his side for the wedding ceremony was told in Bombay high court a short time ago. A member of the religious sect known as the Jains, being forbidden by Jain custom to seek for a bride for himself, commissioned another man to find one. After a selected bride had been "viewed" by the Jain at a railway station he agreed to pay the prospective bride's father $1,000, and $30 to an intermediary, and part of the money was paid in advance. At the ceremony the "bride" wore a heavy veil, and when the Jain asked her to remove it he found that someone had been trying to pass off a substitute for his bride. These adventures are not uncommon in India. Sometimes a very ugly girl is passed off on a bridegroom.

HEALTHY TWIN DIES, TOO

A remarkable illustration of the affinity between twins is found, say physicians of Bayonne, N. J., in the sudden death of Patrick Carr, fifteen months old, exactly five minutes after his sister, Elizabeth, had died. Elizabeth, who had been ill of summer complaint, died at midnight. Five minutes afterward Mrs. Carr went into the next room to see if Patrick was asleep. She bent over his crib to tuck his arm under the covers and found the arm strangely limp. She lifted him, and realized the truth. The peculiarity of the boy's death lies in the fact that he had not been ill. All that the family physician could say was that the heart simply had stopped beating without apparent cause.

SURE SHOT WITH HAMMER

John Lupton of Fort Lupton, Colo., has never taken any medal for hammer throwing, but believes that he is entitled to one since his exploits while he was at work on the roof of a house he was building east of town. He saw a coyote about fifty feet away running off with a hen in its jaws. Although the animal was on the run, Corcoran threw a hammer so effectively that he killed the animal and liberated the chicken, which was still alive and uninjured.

TRAVEL IN THE EAST TRIP A PERILOUS ONE

The "Gemming" Country of Famed Old Ceylon.

Native Superstitious in Evidence Everywhere—Three Small Votive Lamps Always Kept Burning by the Devout Natives.

Ceylon.—I wanted to see the "gemming" country, and journeyed by train to Avisawela, whence I drove by coach the twenty-six miles to Ratnapura; it was late in the afternoon when I last reached Ratnapura resthouse, and Adam's Peak itself appeared over the jungle, glorious under warm, rosy cloudlets that seemed to be playing a game of "touch mountain" as they passed from one pinnacle to another. The rest house is pitched high up on the hillside, and in front of it the broad Kela Ganga river gleamed that night under the stars, and the mysterious gloom of the forest brooded behind a curtain of twinkling fireflies.

Less than half-way to the sea, up among the hills on the southern side of the river, an English syndicate is working a plumbago mine with first-class machinery and expert engineers. I stopped to visit this mine, and in its dark "levels," blasted out of the gneiss rock in the bowels of the earth, saw the plumbago being hacked out in lumps. Near the top of the shaft, in a small wooden box, three little votive lamps are always kept burning—one light for God, one for the company, and one for the miners.

During the second day of the river journey came the shooting of some rather gentle "rapids," where brown rocks thrust their noses out of the water and we rushed down splashing on a slide to lower level. At last, some miles after we had passed the opening of the Kelani river canal, the long bridge of Kalefura appeared at the river mouth with a line of fiery sunset sky behind it, and I saw again the railway, and that fringe of coconut palms against the sea which more than any other detail is typical of Ceylon.

COLUMBUS WAS A SPANIARD

Noted Cuban Scholar Asserts That He Has Documents to Prove This Claim.

New York.—Dr. Constantino de Horta y Pardo de Havana, a Cuban scholar of note and a Fellow of the Royal Spanish Geographical society, has undertaken to prove to the satisfaction of the American Geographical society and the Hispanic society of America that Christopher Columbus was a Spaniard and not an Italian.

He maintains that Columbus was born at Pontevedra, Galicia, Spain, and not at Genoa, Italy.

Dr. Horta has gathered a mass of documents to prove his contention, and these are now in New York awaiting the consideration of the American Geographical society and the Hispanic society.

After these organizations have completed their examination, Dr. Horta purposes to publish the details of his research in a pamphlet which will be sent to governments, universities and civic authorities throughout Latin America, that they may rejoice in the knowledge that Columbus was of their own blood.

Vanderbilt Helps Injured Man.

Newport, R. I.—Reginald Vanderbilt and Preston Gibson, the latter formerly of Chicago but now of Washington, rescued David C. Cruikshank, who had been run down by an automobile driven by Augustus Jay. The injured man, whose skull was fractured, had been riding on the tail seat of a motorcycle when run into by the automobile and hurled to the curb. Vanderbilt and Gibson, passing in their machine, lifted Cruikshank into the car and carried him to Newport hospital, where he was said to be in a serious condition owing to his age of seventy years.

Robber Yields to Finger.

Vancouver, B. C.—When George Bonedict pointed his finger at Frank Benedict in Stanley park the other night the latter, who had attempted to hold up Johnson and Fred Clark at the point of a .38-caliber revolver, lowered his gun and quietly submitted to capture by the men, who he had intended should be his victims.

JAPANESE PRIEST CROSSED DESERT TO TIBET.

In His Journey the Most Inhospitable Land on the Earth Had to Be Traversed—Vast Uncharted Regions Explored.

Kloto, Japan.—The Rev. Zuicho Tachibana, a priest of the great West Hongwanji temple, has returned after five years passed in exploration in the virgin parts of central Asia. His journey was undertaken for purposes of research under the instructions of Count Otani, the lord abbot of the Hongwanji temple, an enthusiastic geographer. Mr. Tachibana is a young man, 23 years old, and of such delicate physique that the natives said he must be a woman disguised as a man.

Mr. Tachibana proceeded from London to Omsk, and thence by stage coach to Semipalatinsk; thence to Turfan. In Sinkiang ("the new territory") passable roads were found. During his explorations Mr. Tachibana traveled across the Takla-Makan desert, which he describes as the worst of all deserts of central Asia. Neither bird nor even insects are to be found there.

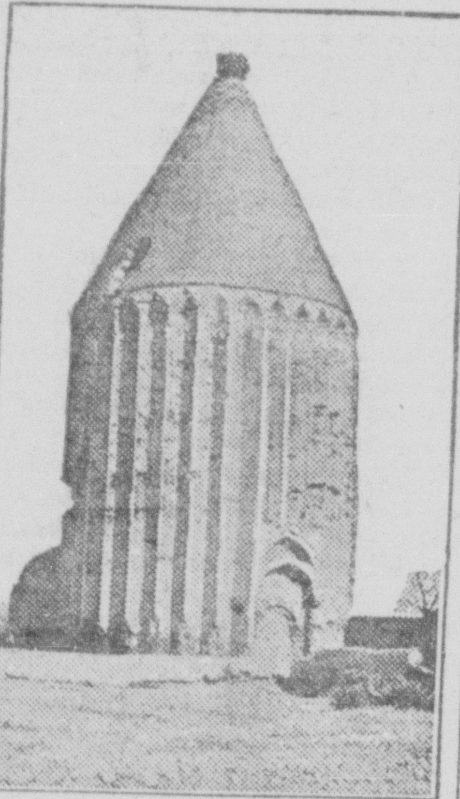

The desert is a sea of sand, where there is only the wind to hear and the moon to see. The party constantly met sand mountains more than 12,000 feet high and the men began to grumble, fearing that they would be buried by the constant sandstorms.

On arriving at Goma, on the right bank of the River Tarim, he caused considerable fright among the shepherds, as his was the first party from the south for thirty years. At first the shepherds fled, but were brought back. The feat of crossing the desert caused Mr. Tachibana to be treated with the greatest reverence by the shepherds.

At this point he left the camel caravan to follow on slowly, whilst he proceeded on horseback to Kuchar, which place he reached after three days. This is a large town, though not to be compared with civilized cities. "Nevertheless," said Mr. Tachibana, "I felt on entering it as though I had suddenly been put down in Piccadilly."

Some time was passed in the neighborhood of Kasgar investigating the buried cities, and afterward the explorer proceeded through the valley to the east of Uzunling to Khotan, the districts previously explored by Dr. Stein (now Sir Marc Aurel Stein). Thence the party proceeded to Tibet for the purpose of geological investigation.

Several districts were visited by Mr. Tachibana, which had been omitted by Dr. Sven Hedin. These regions are absolutely blank on the maps, and have never been visited before.

Among the relics brought back are a quantity of writings of the Wigol tribes, by whom the Buddhist religion was first introduced into Sinkiang and propagated throughout China. This tribe was entirely wiped out by Mohammedan invaders. The writing of the Wigols is from right to left horizontally, and appears to have been produced by reed pens. The writings are on stones, papyrus and papers.

As soon as the records of the journey have been collated the Hongwanji temple will issue a report on Mr. Tachibana's exploration, which will without doubt be eagerly anticipated in scientific circles in Europe and America, as well as in Asia.

NEW ANGLE IN JEALOUS RAGE

Husband Fatally Wounds Wife and Tries Suicide Three Ways, but Fails.

Central City, Ky.—When C. O. Dusinger, a tailor, learned that his bride of two months was at a lawyer's office here making preparations to file suit for divorce he seized a hatchet, and, running to the office, attacked both his wife and the lawyer, James Stroud. After hacking them both with the hatchet, inflicting fatal wounds upon his wife, he ran back to his shop, dived through a plate-glass window, wrecking a gasoline stove inside and setting fire to the building. He then made an effort to hang himself with a wire rope, but, failing in this, he was hacking himself with the hatchet when firemen dragged him from the burning building. His wounds also are fatal. The lawyer will recover.

Candidates Will Talk Prosperity

A meeting of Republican workers from the various precincts of the city was held last evening on the eighth floor of the Fairbanks building, for the purpose of going over some of the plans for the remaining weeks of the campaign.

Addresses were delivered by Dr. R. M. Hughey, of Washington C. H., the Republican candidate for congress, man in this district; Judge A. H. Kunkle, candidate for circuit judge, and C. B. Shook, of Columbus.

The addresses indicated the plan of the local organization from now on, in the campaign for votes at the coming election. One issue, it appears, will be put before the voters persistently, and that will be the claim that the policies of the Republican party in national affairs have been such that under it, the whole country is enjoying a period of prosperity greater than any before.

There will be no further fight against the Bull Moose, if last evening's meeting can be taken as an indication of what the Republicans are going to do. They will be handled as kindly as possible, from present appearances, and prosperity will be the one theme of the Republican arguments.

The necessity of the party workers hammering away at this one subject was emphasized by the speakers, all of whom declared their unshaken belief that the voters will rally to the support of the party, when what the Republicans maintain to be the fundamental issue is presented.

The judicial ballot was discussed by Judge Kunkle, who urged all present not to overlook the Republicans upon the ballot, in their work among the voters.—Springfield Sun.

HOW IT WAS NAMED.

Nottingham lace was so called because it originally was made by the semi-savage people who lived in the caves in England. By keeping the work between them and the dark mouth of the cave the women could work the pattern easily. Nottingham, or any other lace, even the finest and finest, can be washed safely and quickly with Easy Task soap, which is a natural, scientific cleanser and leaves the lace in the best condition. Easy Task costs but five cents a cake at your grocer's.

NEW U. S. PALACE IN ROME

Thomas J. O'Brien, Ambassador to Italy, Has at Last Found Suitable Residence.

Rome.—Thomas J. O'Brien, the American ambassador, has at last solved in a most suitable way the question of his residence as the representative of a power like the United States.

In Rome the ambassador of a great country can hardly live, without losing some prestige, in a modern house or villa. The residence which the French ambassador occupies, the Palazzo Farnese, is a national monument in itself. The Austrian ambassador lives in the Palazzo Venezia, a stronghold, so-called, because it belonged to the Republic of Doges.

The ambassador of Spain has the Palazzo di Spagna, which for centuries housed the grandees of that country. The German ambassador is housed in the Palazzo Chigi, which from the heights of the capitol frowns over the Eternal City below. The Japanese ambassador lives in the historic Palazzo Altieri, erected in 1670.

Ambassador O'Brien understood this situation and set to work to find a proper residence, which for a time seemed impossible. He signed a contract to occupy a gorgeous apartment in the Palazzo Barberini, a most imposing structure of the Renaissance, begun in 1624, and finished by the abbot Bernini, whose works confront one at every turn in Rome.

Fountain Pen Improvement.

Small pieces of glass are set into the side of a new fountain pen so the quantity of ink it holds can be seen readily.

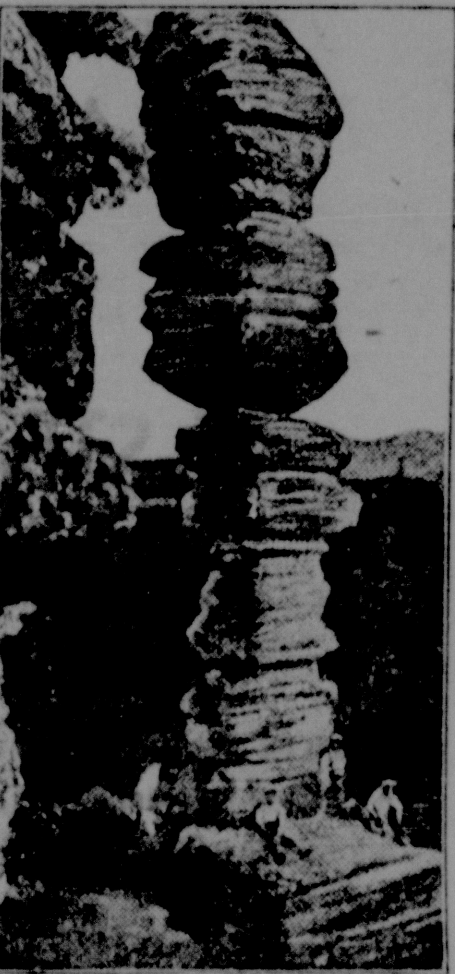

FIRST SCULPTOR IS FOUND

Dr. Capitan, professor at the College de France, has had the good fortune to discover the remains of the first sculptor in the world, buried at the foot of his masterpiece, executed some 30,000 years ago.

Last year the archaeological world was deeply stirred by the unearthing under the pick of Dr. Lalanne of Bordeaux of a prehistoric Venus, carved in the native rock of a grotto near Lauselle. The rocky pocket in which this momentous discovery was made was filled with archaeological deposits, bones of animals, especially reindeer, which were common game for the hardy hunters of the Magdalenian epoch in Dordogne. Many utensils of the hunter, the fisherman and the artist were also found—delicate chisels, scrapers, harpoons and spears of bone.

Most of these, evidently, could only have served for the hunt, the house, the kitchen or warfare; but there were others mingled with them, exceptionally big and heavy—whose use remained unexplained until the dust of ages having been cleaned from the wall of maimed unexplained from the wall of the grotto, five life-sized horses, cut in the rock in a free and living workmanship, were revealed. The excavations were continued and soon a spade struck on the skull of the author. The old artist lay crouching on his left side, something in the attitude of Rodin's statue, "The Thinker," which stands outside the Pantheon at Paris.

WONDERFUL ROCK CHIMNEY

What is perhaps the most wonderful rock chimney in the whole of America is shown in the photograph here reproduced. It stands near High Bridge, Ky., itself one of the wonders of the world. This natural chimney is seventy-five feet high and only four feet by six at the base. It is so delicately moulded that it looks as if a push would send it over, yet it has successfully defied the storms of unknown ages.

WRONG BRIDE AT THE ALTAR

The story of a bridegroom finding the wrong bride at his side for the wedding ceremony was told in Bombay high court a short time ago. A member of the religious sect known as the Jains, being forbidden by Jain custom to seek for a bride for himself, commissioned another man to find one. After a selected bride had been "viewed" by the Jain at a railway station he agreed to pay the prospective bride's father $1,000, and $50 to an intermediary, and part of the money was paid in advance. At the ceremony the "bride" wore a heavy veil, and when the Jain asked her to remove it he found that someone had been trying to pass off a substitute for his bride. These adventures are not uncommon in India. Sometimes a very ugly girl is passed off on a bridegroom.

HEALTHY TWIN DIES, TOO

A remarkable illustration of the affinity between twins is found, say physicians of Bayonne, N. J., in the sudden death of Patrick Carr, fifteen months old, exactly five minutes after his sister, Elizabeth, had died. Elizabeth, who had been ill of summer complaint, died at midnight. Five minutes afterward Mrs. Carr went into the next room to see if Patrick was asleep. She bent over his crib to tuck his arm under the covers and found the arm strangely limp. She lifted him, and realized the truth. The peculiarity of the boy's death lies in the fact that he had not been ill. All that the family physician could say was that the heart simply had stopped beating without apparent cause.

SURE SHOT WITH HAMMER

John Lupton of Fort Lupton, Colo., has never taken any medal for hammer throwing, but believes that he is entitled to one since his exploits while he was at work on the roof of a house he was building east of town. He saw a coyote about fifty feet away running off with a hen in its jaws. Although the animal was on the run, Corcoran threw a hammer so effectively that he killed the animal and liberated the chicken, which was still alive and uninjured.

TRAVEL IN THE EAST TRIP A PERILOUS ONE

The "Gemming" Country of Famed Old Ceylon.

Native Superstitious in Evidence Everywhere—Three Small Votive Lamps Always Kept Burning by the Devout Natives.

Ceylon.—I wanted to see the "gemming" country, and journeyed by train to Avisawela, whence I drove by coach the twenty-six miles to Ratnapura; it was late in the afternoon when at last I reached Ratnapura resthouse, and Adam's Peak itself appeared over the jungle, glorious under warm, rosy cloudlets that seemed to be playing a game of "touch mountain" as they passed from one pinnacle to another. The rest house is pitched high up on the hillside, and in front of it the broad Kela Gange river gleamed that night under the stars, and the mysterious gloom of the forest brooded behind a curtain of twinkling fireflies.

Less than half-way to the sea, up among the hills on the southern side of the river, an English syndicate is working a plumbago mine with first-class machinery and expert engineers. I stopped to visit this mine, and in its dark "levels," blasted out of the gneiss rock in the bowels of the earth, saw the plumbago being hacked out in lumps. Near the top of the shaft, in a small wooden box, three little votive lamps are always kept burning—one light for God, one for the company, and one for the miners.

During the second day of the river journey came the shooting of some rather gentle "rapids," where brown rocks thrust their noses out of the water and we rushed down splashing on a slide to lower level. At last, some miles after we had passed the opening of the Kelani river canal, the long bridge of Kalefura appeared at the river mouth with a line of fiery sunset sky behind it, and I saw again the railway, and that fringe of coconut palms against the sea which more than any other detail is typical of Ceylon.

COLUMBUS WAS A SPANIARD

Noted Cuban Scholar Asserts That He Has Documents to Prove This Claim.

New York.—Dr. Constantino de Hora y Pardo de Havana, a Cuban scholar of note and a Fellow of the Royal Spanish Geographical society, has undertaken to prove to the satisfaction of the American Geographical society and the Hispanic society of America that Christopher Columbus was a Spaniard and not an Italian.

He maintains that Columbus was born at Pontevedra, Galicia, Spain, and not at Genoa, Italy.

Dr. Horta has gathered a mass of documents to prove his contention, and these are now in New York awaiting the consideration of the American Geographical society and the Hispanic society.

After these organizations have completed their examination, Dr. Horta purposes to publish the details of his research in a pamphlet which will be sent to governments, universities and civic authorities throughout Latin America, that they may rejoice in the knowledge that Columbus was of their own blood.

Vanderbilt Helps Injured Man.

Newport, R. I.—Reginald Vanderbilt and Preston Gibson, the latter formerly of Chicago but now of Washington, rescued David C. Cruikshank, who had been run down by an automobile driven by Augustus Jay. The injured man, whose skull was fractured, had been riding on the tail seat of a motorcycle when run into by the automobile and hurled to the curb. Vanderbilt and Gibson, passing in their machine, lifted Cruikshank into the car and carried him to Newport hospital, where he was said to be in a serious condition owing to his age of seventy years.

Robber Yields to Finger.

Vancouver, B. C.—When George Johnson pointed his finger at Frank Benedict in Stanley park the other night the latter, who had attempted to hold up Johnson and Fred Clark at the point of a .38-caliber revolver, lowered his gun and quietly submitted to capture by the men, who he had intended should be his victims.

JAPANESE PRIEST CROSSED DESERT TO TIBET.

In His Journey the Most Inhospitable Land on the Earth Had to Be Traversed—Vast Uncharted Regions Explored.

Kioto, Japan.—The Rev. Zuicho Tachibana, a priest of the great West Hongwanji temple, has returned after five years passed in exploration in the virgin parts of central Asia. His journey was undertaken for purposes of research under the instructions of Count Otani, the lord abbot of the Hongwanji temple, an enthusiastic geographer. Mr. Tachibana is a young man, 23 years old, and of such delicate physique that the natives said he must be a woman disguised as a man.

Mr. Tachibana proceeded from London to Omsk, and thence by stage coach to Semipalatinsk; thence to Turfan. In Sinkiang ("the new territory") passable roads were found.

During his explorations Mr. Tachibana traveled across the Takla-Makan desert, which he describes as the worst of all deserts of central Asia. Neither bird nor even insects are to be found there.

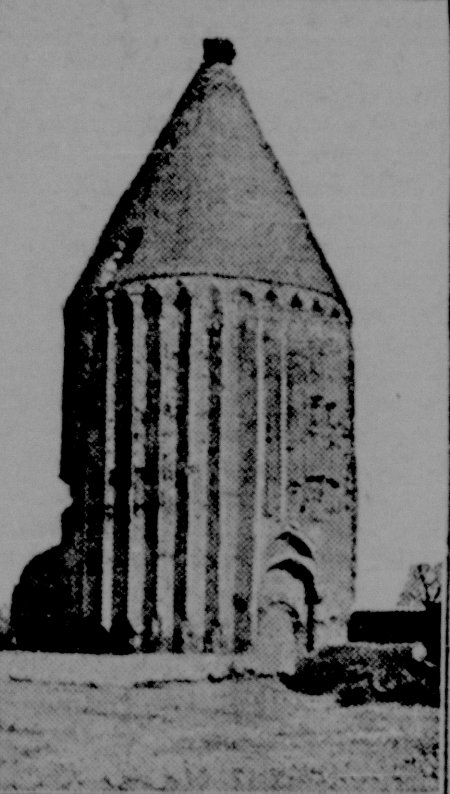

The desert is a sea of sand, where there is only the wind to hear and the moon to see. The party constantly met sand mountains more than 12,000 feet high and the men began to grumble, fearing that they would be buried by the constant sandstorms.

On arriving at Goma, on the right bank of the River Tarim, he caused considerable fright among the shepherds, as his was the first party from the south for thirty years. At first the shepherds fled, but were brought back. The feat of crossing the desert caused Mr. Tachibana to be treated with the greatest reverence by the shepherds.

At this point he left the camel caravan to follow on slowly, whilst he proceeded on horseback to Kuchar, which place he reached after three days. This is a large town, though not to be compared with civilized cities. "Nevertheless," said Mr. Tachibana, "I felt on entering it as though I had suddenly been put down in Piccadilly."

Some time was passed in the neighborhood of Kasgar investigating the buried cities, and afterward the explorer proceeded through the valley to the east of Uzunling to Khotan, the districts previously explored by Dr. Stein (now Sir Marc Aurel Stein). Thence the party proceeded to Tibet for the purpose of geological investigation.

Several districts were visited by Mr. Tachibana, which had been omitted by Dr. Sven Hedin. These regions are absolutely blank on the maps, and have never been visited before.

Among the relics brought back are a quantity of writings of the Wigol tribes, by whom the Buddhist religion was first introduced into Sin-Kiang and propagated throughout China. This tribe was entirely wiped out by Mahomedan invaders. The writing of the Wigols is from right to left horizontally, and appears to have been produced by reed pens. The writings are on stones, papyrus and papers.

As soon as the records of the journey have been collated the Hongwanji temple will issue a report on Mr. Tachibana's exploration, which will without doubt be eagerly anticipated in scientific circles in Europe and America, as well as in Asia.

NEW ANGLE IN JEALOUS RAGE

Husband Fatally Wounds Wife and Trice Suicide Three Ways, but Fails.

Central City, Ky.—When C. O. Dutsinger, a tailor, learned that his bride of two months was at a lawyer's office here making preparations to file suit for divorce he seized a hatchet, and, running to the office, attacked both his wife and the lawyer, James Stroud.

After hacking them both with the hatchet, inflicting fatal wounds upon his wife, he ran back to his shop, dived through a plate-glass window, wrecking a gasoline stove inside and setting fire to the building. He then made an effort to hang himself with a wire rope, but, failing in this, he was hacking himself with the hatchet when firemen dragged him from the burning building. His wounds also are fatal. The lawyer will recover.

SCORE WAS A LOPSIDED ONE

Visitors Gave Poor Exhibition of

Was Hopelessly Lost.

About seven hundred and fifty loyal fans journeyed to the lot Sunday to see the local boys salt the Leesburg bunch of ballplayers made up largely of Ohio State League players, down to a nice pickle.

The visitors played their best game of ball until Washington had fairly smothered them with fast playing, both in the field and at the bat. When the visitors saw the jig was up they began to give crude imitations of a team not trying to win.

If the bunch of Ohio State Leaguers in the Leesburg line-up Sunday are a sample of the players in that league, then Washington would win the pennant in that company in an easy walk.

The game was featured by the work of the locals at the bat, and the sensational catch of Jones in right field. He speared a long drive off Grandil's bat in the fifth which was labeled for a home run with two men on the sacks. Had the ball escaped him a different tale might have been written.

The score was lopsided but satisfactory to local fans, who were content to see the chesty leaguers showed up.

The spat between Passmore and Grandil was all on account of the latter's hot-headedness. Due apology for the outburst was made to Washington's centerfielder by the visitor's first sacker.

The local man deserves credit for restraining himself as well as he did and avoiding a disgraceful fight which would have done the game no good.

Next Sunday Hillsboro plays here.

"EVERY LITTLE OLIVE TABLET HAS A MOVEMENT ALL ITS OWN"

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

RAYMOND WAS FINE PITCHER

When in Condition Eccentric Twirler Could Stand Any Amount of Hard Work—His Career.

With the passing of Arthur L. Raymond, or "Bugs" Raymond, as he was familiarly known to about every fan in the country, one of the most eccentric characters in baseball's history dropped out of life's game. Raymond, like that other eccentric twirler, Rube Waddell, was one of the greatest pitchers in the country, but refused to keep himself in condition. The former Giant twirler was found dead in bed in a Chicago hotel.

Raymond was a wonderful pitcher when in condition and could stand any amount of hard work. He was justly ranked with Mathewson, Brown, Ruelbach and other pitching stars of his time. He started his baseball career in Rockford, Ill. He then joined the Atlanta Southern league club, where the eccentric pitcher made a wonderful record, pitching 65 games and losing but five of them. Baseball scouts in both the American and National leagues soon learned of Raymond's wonderful pitching. In 1903 Raymond was secured by the St. Louis Cardinals, and he remained with that team until 1908, when Manager McGraw pulled off one of the largest trades in baseball history.

Raymond and Red Murray, of the St. Louis club, and Schlei, of the Cincinnati club, were secured by McGraw in trade for Roger Bresnahan, Karger and Fromme, two pitchers, also figured in the trade. They went to the Reds in part payment for Bresnahan, now manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and formerly the star catcher for the Giants.

While with the Giant's Raymond's name was one to conjure with, and in the successes that followed the team after his advent, the loss of Roger Bresnahan was forgotten. A season of success was followed by a career along the Great White Way that spelled disaster, and once in the fascinating web of Broadway's life, Raymond never got out, except to drift into a lower trend. His eccentricities and escapades earned him the nickname of "Bugs," and it never was spoken in derision. "Bugs" was still loved by fandom and players, and his waywardness brought sorrow to the Giants.

After an extraordinary long detour in 1911, Manager McGraw, of the Giants, who were then in the thick of a pennant race, appointed a member of the team to guard Raymond. Then it was "Bugs" Raymond, who has a keeper," that gave fandom another bit of gossip. Raymond went along well. He got in condition, and the Giants again started pennantward. Then "Bugs" broke loose again, taking his keeper with him, and the pair of them set Broadway tongues agog with their escapades. Raymond was dropped from the team's roster as hopeless, and from that moment he started the life of unceasing dissipation that was ended the other day in a Chicago hotel.

STAR CATCHER WITH YANKS

Ed Sweeney, Elongated Backstop, Stops Wide Ones That Would Get by Other Players.

Ed Sweeney, the Yanks' elongated catcher, can handle all kinds of pitching. It is doubtful if there is another catcher in the league who could do much with McConnell, New York's "bean" pitcher. He is supposed to be one of the hardest pitchers in the majors to catch. Sweeney can get his glove behind wide ones that would get by the ordinary backstop. His great reach stands him in good turn behind the bat. In a recent Sunday's game, for instance, he saved Russell Ford a wild heave with men on the bags, by going up in the air a good seven feet for a high one.

Moreover, Sweeney is a willing worker. He is always ready to kick on a close decision, but he never crabs after it is all over. He is always smiling during the game.

Cobb on Stage Again.

Ty Cobb, baseball player extraordinary and retired actor, may go upon the stage again this winter. He has received an offer to become interlocutor of George Evans' minstrels. Evans had Jim Corbett in this position two years and now hopes to land a diamond celebrity for the job. In addition, Evans is angling for the services of Red Doolin, Mike Donlin and Christy Mathewson, all of whom have appeared in vaudeville. Incidental to his show, Evans has a baseball team and he would back that team against all comers if he could get Cobb, Matty, Doolin and Donlin to join.

Sox Get Lange's Pal.

Miller, the young pitcher signed for the White Sox, is the former pal of Bill Lange on the Des Moines team. The two twirlers won a championship for the Iowa team the last time that city had the honor.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Follows Son's Example.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Following the example of his son, Samuel W. Williams, Jr., who committed suicide in a Toledo hotel a year ago over a love affair, Samuel Williams, 43, shot and killed himself. Ill health is attributed as the cause. He had been out of work since last July. The father of Williams is said to have committed suicide in this city several years ago.

Italian Murderer Reprieved.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Rocco Lovecchia, an Italian, condemned to die in the penitentiary annex, was granted a reprieve by Governor Harmon. His execution is postponed from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15. Lovecchia and a companion are under death sentence for the murder of a fellow countryman on Kelley's Island, in Lake Erie.

Fight on Hog Cholera.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—The state board of health appointed a veterinarian to spend all of his time in northwestern Ohio, inoculating swine with serum manufactured by the state, with which to fight hog cholera. The disease has broken out in that section of the state and is especially bad in Putnam and Allen counties.

Motorman Killed.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Charles W. McIntire, 45, was killed in a head-on collision between two streetcars, due to a fog. Thinking he had already passed a car on a turn-out, McIntire went ahead in the fog and crashed into the car. Ten passengers were more or less injured.

Columbus Greeks to Go to War.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—It was reported at a meeting of local Greeks that 50 members of that nationality from here are ready to bear arms in the prospective war with Turkey. The sum of $1,800 as a war fund was raised in a few minutes.

Knew 15,000 Crooks.

New York, Oct. 14.—Seymour Bentler, for years the identifier for the Pinkerton detective agency, died at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. David Friedman, 808 West End avenue. He had been ill from pneumonia since last Thursday. It was said of him that he had a knowledge of 15,000 crooks of various sorts.

IN LAND OF BEAUTY

Switzerland a Perpetual Delight for the Tourist.

Charm of Ancient Times to Be Met With at Every Turn—Country of Immense Views and Magnificent Sunsets.

Geneva.—"Switzerland for the Swiss," is the occasional plaint that catches the eye of the reader of the Swiss journals, the latest items of the kind being the little communing of Rd in a recent Journal de Geneve. "The strangers are here," it begins, "with their porters, their guides, their autos, their funiculars, the panoramas and shops, and souvenirs born of the shops—will they not presently make our country uninhabitable? But when the day does come," he continues in substance, "and we shall be obliged to abandon the Alps, there will still remain to us the great Swiss plateau."

The Germans do not cease to boast of flowery Lunenburg, the Black Forest, the Bords du Rhin, the Thuringian hills and of the Saxon Switzerland, and perhaps some day, drawn by their persistent praise, we may get to see them, but then, they resemble the scenery of the Swiss plateau.

"Do you know of it?" he continues. "The foot of the Jura, the Fribourg country, the Toggenbourg, High Thurgovia, the outskirts of Schaffhausen, the banks of the Aar and the Reuss, the little lakes of Bienne, Hallwyl and the Greifensee. And do you know that there are little villages where there are still the good old inns with their wrought iron swing-signs, just as in the days of the diligence? Do you realize the beauties of the hillsides here, the prealpes, from which the view is immense and the sunsets are magnificent?"

There used to be in this old Switzerland the ancient customs. Sundays, when fair, the forests were filled with the young girls in white, with bare arms and flowers in their hair, and troops of children loaded with the berries and blossoms of the country. Now there are no troopings of the children, no songful young men, no girls in white. You ramble in the woods—it is hot below, but it is always cool and fragrant in groves of pine—but there is no one there. You stroll leisurely, you fill your handkerchief with chamoisettes and this is what you see. "A vast expanse of hills, the nearer green, the middle distance, blue. There are masses of forests, one behind another, the village is out there, crowned by its lofty castle, the covered bridge below and the calm river flows without so much as a ruffle. Houses play at hide and seek with you, and their chimneys smoke in unison like cranes, for the hour of supper is approaching. You hear the village bells, first the preceptor telling the hour and in his wake the others in solos, duets and trios. Far away the lake is a burning spot in the vast expanse and the long line of the Jura is brown. See, the Alps are turning to roses."

This is the Switzerland to which Rd would call the attention and appreciation of his countrymen, of which, indeed, they now know but little, "and when you gaze upon it," he concludes, "you cannot help but feel within you the sentiment, 'My Switzerland, my beautiful home.'"

Defense of the Young Butler Who Killed His Employer.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 14.—John G. McGuire, a young butler who has been indicted by the Westchester county grand jury for the murder of his employer, Sernor H. Starrett of New Rochelle, is determined to make a bitter fight for his life. He has engaged Charles H. Nixon, a well-known criminal lawyer of New Rochelle, to defend him. His defense will be that he had a brainstorm and did not realize what he was doing. He will probably be placed on trial before Justice Morschauser next month.

McGuire was employed as butler in the Starrett home and because of alleged incompetency Mr. Starrett discharged him. He returned to the home during the night and shot Mr. Starrett, while he was lying sick in bed.

Gibson Is Reappointed Stays At Havana

Cubans Will Not Be Given an Opportunity to Gloat.

Washington, Oct. 14.—An aftermath of an assault upon Hugh Gibson, charge d'affaires of the American legation in Havana, by a Cuban newspaper reporter, came in the announcement at the state department that Mr. Gibson's appointment to be secretary of legation at Brussels has been revoked and he is reappointed secretary at Havana. Arthur M. Beaupre, minister to Cuba, in a recent visit to the department, pointed out that the transfer of Mr. Gibson would furnish the Cubans who had been attacking him and his government through the press an opportunity to gloat.

Milk Saved the Auto.

A farmer named Richter, of Millwood, in Westchester county, N. Y., sacrificed a load of milk the other day to save a new touring car, in which two women were riding, from being destroyed by fire. The engine of the car began to spit flames. Finally it took fire. The occupants then abandoned it for fear the gasoline tank might explode. Richter came driving along with several cans of milk. With him was his eighteen-year-old son. He alighted from the wagon, and seizing a ten-quart can filled with milk threw the contents over the flames. The floor of the car was afire and burning briskly. He saw he would have to waste several more cans of milk to save the auto. "Come, hand me those cans quickly," he said to his son. He emptied them over the auto as fast as he could. The flames were checked, but not until nearly one hundred and fifty quarts of milk had been sacrificed. The owner of the car asked him what the milk was worth. Richter fixed his loss at seven dollars, but the lady gave him twenty-five dollars, saying, "You deserve all this, if not more."

An Escape.

"It's useless to urge me to marry you. When I say no I mean no." "Always?" "Invariably." "And can nothing ever break your determination when once you make up your mind?" "Absolutely nothing." "Well, I wouldn't care to marry a girl like that, anyhow."—Boston Transcript.

SCORE WAS A LOPSIDED ONE

Visitors Gave Poor Exhibition of a Team Not Trying When Game
Was Hopelessly Lost.

About seven hundred and fifty loyal fans journeyed to the lot Sunday to see the local boys salt the Leesburg bunch of ballplayers made up largely of Ohio State League players, down to a nice pickle.

The visitors played their best game of ball until Washington had fairly smothered them with fast playing, both in the field and at the bat. When the visitors saw the jig was up they began to give crude imitations of a team not trying to win.

If the bunch of Ohio State Leaguers in the Leesburg line-up Sunday are a sample of the players in that league, then Washington would win the pennant in that company in an easy walk.

The game was featured by the work of the locals at the bat, and the sensational catch of Jones in right field. He speared a long drive off Grandil's bat in the fifth which was labeled for a home run with two men on the sacks. Had the ball escaped him a different tale might have to be written.

The score was lopsided but satisfactory to local fans, who were content to see the chesty leaguers showed up.

The spat between Passmore and Grandil was all on account of the latter's hot-headedness. Due apology for the outbreak was made to Washington's centerfielder by the visitor's first sacker.

The local man deserves credit for restraining himself as well as he did and avoiding a disgraceful fight which would have done the game no good.

Next Sunday Hillsboro plays here.

The owner of the car asked him what the milk was worth. Richter fixed his loss at seven dollars, but the lady gave him twenty-five dollars, saying, "You deserve all this, if not more."

An Escape.

"It's useless to urge me to marry you. When I say no I mean no." "Always?" "Invariably." "And can nothing ever break your determination when once you make up your mind?" "Absolutely nothing." "Well, I wouldn't care to marry a girl like that, anyhow."—Boston Transcript.

New Pastor At Grace Church

Rev. Ross, who has been transferred from the West Virginia conference and his pastorate at Wheeling, W. Va., to the Ohio conference and Grace M. E. church, of this city, delivered his first sermon at Grace church yesterday, creating a favorable impression in his initial appearance.

Owing to the fact that Rev. Ross' year in the Southern conference does not end until the coming Sunday, he returns to Wheeling to deliver his farewell sermon there next Sunday, returning here permanently a few days later.

Rev. T. W. Locke and Mrs. Locke spent Sunday in Columbus, Rev. Locke filling his new pulpit in the Third Avenue church.

They return this morning to break up housekeeping in Grace parsonage.

RECEPTION FOR REV. AND MRS. LOCKE.

The Epworth League invite the members of Grace church and the friends of Rev. and Mrs. Locke to a farewell reception in their honor this evening at eight o'clock in the church parlors.

RED SOX ARE DEFEATED GIANT STOCK TAKES BOOM

Special to Herald.

New York, October 14.—The sixth game of the world's championship series between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox was played at the Polo grounds in New York today. Both teams were in fine fettle for the battle, which Boston rooters firmly believed would be the last one of the big series. New York enthusiasts and players, however, did not concede that Boston would cop the world's championship pennant in today's game.

Manager Stahl sent O'Brien to the box, while McGraw again pinned his faith to "Rube" Marquard, who has hurled the solitary winner so far placed on the credit side for New York.

Myers for New York, and Cady for Boston, were again behind the bat.

New York took kindly to O'Brien's offerings in the first inning, hammering out five large tallies. After the smoke of this terrific cannonading had cleared, Manager Stahl used his derriek and lifted O'Brien from the box. Collins, the Red Sox south paw was substituted and held the Giants runless for the remaining seven innings.

Marquard was effective in the first, but in the second the Sox bunched hits off his slants for two runs and Boston stock began to look up.

It was too late, however, for the Red Sox to pull themselves together and although Collins pitched fine baseball to the end, they were helpless before the delivery of Marquard, and the final score was chalked up by the score board boys five to two. New York is again baseball mad and the probabilities are that Wood for Boston and Matthewson for the Giants will fight it out tomorrow.
